

Books Beats & Visions:

An Octavia's Brood Reading Group

"All that you touch / You Change. / All that you Change / Changes you. /
The only lasting truth / Is Change. / God / Is Change." - Octavia Butler

What do you want to change? What is changing you? What visions emerge when you move? When you awake? When you hold still? Talk Is Cheap: Unincorporated Language Laboratories invites you to dish and divulge your reflections about the visionary fiction short stories collected in Octavia's Brood. Meet up with us twice a month to indulge, challenge and share thoughts. We'll open each session with a short passage, talk about how it connects with our community work, and write short reflections based on prompts related to the stories. After reading we'll head out to a local spot to dance together and reconnect with our bodies.

* Even though the book is written in English we will have the short passage translated into Spanish and all the activities will be bilingual in Spanish and English.

Wednesdays | 7 PM - 8:30 PM

Triangle Arts Association
20 Jay Street. (Dumbo, Brooklyn)

Immigrant Movement International Corona
108-59 Roosevelt Ave. (Corona, Queens)

- October 14 Revolution Shuffle : Bao Phi
- November 4 The Long Memory : Morrigan Phillips
- December 2 Hollow : Mia Mingus
- January 6 The Only Lasting Truth : Tananarive Due
- February 3 22XX: One-Shot : Jelani Wilson

- October 28 Black Angel : Walidah Imarisha
- November 18 In Spite of Darkness : Alixa Garcia
- December 16 Kafka's Last Laugh : Vagabond
- January 20 children who fly : Leah Lakshmi Piepzna-Samarasinha, & Star Wars and the American Imagination Muni Abu-Jamal
- February 17 Outro : Adrienne Maree Brown